Reproduction Paperwork
Catalog - vol.1

High quality reproduction paperwork items for your Re-enactment, Living History, Museum displays, Theatre, Television- or Film props.
July 2016,

Atlas Repro Paperwork is actually a one-person business, based in the Netherlands, and formed by me. I started with Re-enactment/Living History as a hobby in 1995 and at the same time I started to collect 1940s paperwork. Because I didn’t want to ruin my original paperwork by using it, I started reproducing them and making bits and pieces for myself and a couple of friends. After a while the demand for more repro paperwork slowly grew. Even people within the film industry got interested in my work too, which resulted into me making paperwork props for the BBC, Discovery Channel and the Paul Verhoeven film “Black Book” (Zwartboek – 2005). For this film I made a lot of ration labels and other paperwork, many of which you can find in my webshop. After that I made some paperwork for a Swiss Television serie called “Anno 1914”, a few years ago.

Unfortunately, making of repro paperwork on a greater scale in those early years wasn’t possible because of other time consuming work and family life. To me it was more or less a hobby to make this kind of paperwork. I could combine my profession as a Graphic Designer / Packaging Artworker with my hobby. But over the years lots of fellow re-enactors told me to take my reproduction paperwork to a more commercial level. They said that my paperwork is of high quality and that I could make a business out of it. This because there are not many people making such reproduction paperwork of high quality.

So finally, in march 2011, I decided to make a Facebook Page and I called that Atlas Repro Paperwork. The beginning of my Paperwork business. But it took me a year to really start posting on that page and reaching out to friends and fellow re-enactors, Living historians and film makers on facebook. In October 2012 I started with my website (www.atlas-repropaperwork.com). If you would like to link to my website from your own website, or click on the facebook like button to tell your friends about Atlas Repro Paperwork, I would be very grateful.

And now I decided to take my Paperwork business to a higher level and I want to expand my Paperwork productions. Here is my first catalog with all the products I made sofar. Keep watching my website or Facebook page for new products.

Kind regards,

Patrick van der Vegt
